

Coach Self Evaluation

Coach,

Please do a self evaluation of this season to help you, and the club as a whole, improve for next season. This is not to make you feel guilty or to judge you. It is for you to help yourself improve and hopefully remind you that there are tools, resources, and people to help you along the way. Mistakes are how we learn. This will help us improve as a club and once again put Minisink Valley Soccer on the map!

Here are some things to ask yourself.

- Did I use the tools given to me on the website for understanding and managing my particular age group?
- Did I have realistic player expectations and set standards for my age group?
- Did I review the weeks lessons in advance and watch all the videos
- Did I remind my parents to mark player availability in TeamSnap?
- Did I arrive early, set up the field, and start on time?
- Did I set up team expectations early?
- Did I take attendance in TeamSnap?
- Did I follow the lesson plans each week to the best of my ability?
- Did I enforce that each lesson builds on the last and remind the players of what we already worked on?
- Did I enforce the week's lesson plans on game day?
- Did I use the keywords and coaching points from each lesson?
- Did I recognize the pattern of each lesson and stick with it so players could easily follow along each week?
- Did I enforce repetition and time on the ball is key? (No standing around)
- If I struggled with a lesson did I reach out to another coach, the Division Commissioner or the Coaching Director for help?
- Did I recognize I did my best, I learned, refrained from beating myself up, and I know it will be easier next time?
- Did I celebrate the end of the season as a job well done, while recognizing room for improvement, and enjoying the fact that I now get my evenings and weekends back.
Well, at least for a short time.
